In Egypt, the tourism industry has become very important. It could help increase the national income. In some European countries, tourism brought in millions of dollars although they don't have the natural and historical attractions we have in Egypt.

We could build tourist villages for children on the Red Sea. We could teach fishing, swimming, diving and sailing there. Another good idea would be a village in the New Valley for horse riding. And what about villages for people with health problems? The warm dry climate of Aswan and Helwan would certainly help them get better.

Our tourists today want good and friendly service. They would prefer to try our local food rather than to eat the international meals, which are served, in some places. They need hotels that are not expensive, but clean, comfortable places to sleep and eat in.

A) Answer the following questions:

1. Why has tourism become very important?

   Because it helps increase the national income.

2. What kind of people would enjoy our warm dry climate?

   People with health problems.

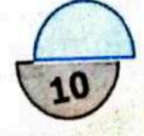

3. What does the underlined pronoun "It" refer to?

   Tourism.

C Reading Comprehension

3 Read the following, then answer the questions: 6

Inventions bring problems as well as happiness. Scientists invent things to make our life easy, but they might have disadvantages as well as advantages.

People invent things for many reasons. For example, Graham Bell invented the telephone to help people communicate with each other when they are not in the same place. The television was invented to bring people news and interesting information. The telephone and the television have brought much great happiness. However, they have also brought problems. For example, the telephone can make people lazy – they may telephone friends instead of visiting them. The television can also make people lazy. For example, more people now watch sport on television than go out and do a sport themselves. Everything we use has its advantages and disadvantages, so we should use it well.

A) Answer the following questions:

1. How many modern inventions are mentioned in the passage?

C Reading Comprehension

3 Read the following, then answer the questions: 6

I prefer life in the country where one can enjoy a simple, quiet and beautiful life. The villages in Egypt have improved lately. In the past, villages were just groups of poor houses. There was no electricity or clean water. There were very few schools. Sick people had to be carried to hospitals far from their villages.

Now, the picture is very different. The houses are well built like the houses in towns and cities. They are supplied with electricity and clean water. In every village, there are primary, prep and secondary schools. Pupils no longer go to cities and towns to join schools. Villagers now use modern technology such as fridges, washing machines, computers and mobile phones that make their life better and more comfortable. Villagers are proud because the best places are called villages such as smart villages and tourist villages.

A) Answer the following questions:

1. Why does the writer prefer living in the country?
Because it's beautiful, quite and simple
2. What are the houses of the Egyptian villages like nowadays?

People often cut back on their sleep for work, for family needs, or even to watch a good show on television. But if not getting enough sleep is a regular part of your routine, you may have many diseases, poor mental health, and even early death. Even one night of short sleep can affect you the next day. Not only are you more likely to feel sleepy, you're more likely to be in a bad mood.

Scientists advise that healthy adults need between 7 and 9 hours of sleep per night. Babies, young children, and teens need even more sleep. People over 65 should also get 7 to 8 hours per night.

To improve your sleep, go to bed at the same time each night and get up at the same time each morning, including the weekends. Make sure your bedroom is quiet and dark. Remove electronic devices such as TVs, computers, and phones from the bedroom. Don't eat large meals before bedtime. Get some exercise.

Three young Egyptian women reached the final of the Google Science Fair competition, with their invention of an intelligent glove to help the deaf. Young scientists Sara (18), Nourhan (17) and Asmaa (17) recognised the difficulties faced by those with hearing and speech problems. The disabled often find it difficult to communicate with other people, who for the most part are unable to use sign language. The team worked on the idea of a glove that can translate hand signals into letters and words. The young women hope that their invention will be a powerful tool for people who are deaf and hard of hearing to communicate more easily through life.

"Through the Google Science Fair, we've invited today's brightest young minds to answer an important question: how can they make the world better through science, maths and engineering? We received thousands of extremely impressive answers to this question from over 107 countries this year, and we can't wait to announce the winners later in September," Google said in a statement.

3 Read the following, then answer the questions: 6

Technology helps us to keep in contact with old friends. The emails offer speedy delivery of messages. We use technology to travel, communicate, learn, do business and live in comfort. On the other hand, technology has many bad effects.

When the children use much technology, they do not have enough time to read and think deeply. They find the information, but they may not remember it. They don't develop social skills.

Technology has an effect on our body, it causes neck and head pain when you look down, and it causes eye problems. It can also cause headaches. When you look at the computer and device screens for long times, it hurts your eyes and you may need glasses much earlier in the life. Using headphones and earbuds can cause people to lose their hearing over time. Many people text, check social media or watch videos online late into the night. Then they don't get enough sleep. Technology causes a higher use of energy when you don't turn your devices off. Take care while you are using technology.

A) Answer the following questions:

1. What is the main idea of the text?
   Technology
2. In what ways can we use technology?

C Reading Comprehension

3 Read the following, then answer the questions: 6

Egyptian clothing styles did not change much throughout ancient times. Clothes were usually made of linen. Men usually wore a short skirt. Women wore a straight fitting dress. When doing hard work, men wore hard cloth, and women wore a short skirt. Children usually ran around without clothes during the summer months, while in the winter, cloaks were worn. Noblemen would sometimes wear a long robe, while the women wore long dresses. Women wore circular capes. They were generally made of linen and had an opening for the head cut at the center. Most people went barefoot, but wore sandals on special occasions. Clothing styles were chosen for comfort in the hot, dry climate of Egypt. The wealthy men and women wore long robes. Wealthy people did not wear more jewellery or clothes to show wealth.

3 Read the following, then answer the questions:

Music is the best way to be happy and busy in life. In this busy and crowded world, music keeps us happy during these difficult times and helps to provide relief to our brain. I have realised in my own real life that music is, in fact, a tool to help keep everyone happy. Music can help both our body and mind. We can listen to music anytime throughout the day, listening to quiet music is a very good habit.

I always like to listen to music at the time of my studies and especially, at the time of my exams. It helps a lot in increasing my concentration during studies and it actually gives me quite good results as well.

I love music from childhood. Some students get addicted to listening to music and they do not do any work without music which can be harmful as it will not allow us to concentrate on one task. Music is like yoga, it makes us happy and helps to keep balance in the body, relieves our body and mind and thus keeps us physically and mentally healthy. This protects us from being overweight as well as other mental problems.

A) Answer the following questions:

1 What is the main idea of this passage?

The importance of music.

2 When can we listen to music?

any time

3 How can music be harmful?

If we become addicted to it.

B) Choose the correct answer from a, b, c or d:
